Figure A1. Flowchart of ensemble clustering. In this process, we have no knowledge of the original features and only have discrete clustering results. As a mainstream method in ensemble clustering, CA matrix is used to fuse clustering results and a simple approach is to apply spectral clustering or hierarchical clustering to obtain the final result.