Figure A3. The iterative objective curves of the proposed method under four different initializations across all datasets are shown. Even with different initializations, the objective value at convergence remains the same.